A Real Blessing to Mothers.

DR. WM. EVANS' CELEBRATED SOOTHING SYRUP, FOR CHILDREN CUTTING THEIR TEETH.

This infallible romedy has preserved hundreds of chil-This infallible romedy has preserved hundreds of childern, when thought past recovery, from convulsions. As soon as the Syrup is rubbed on the gums, the child will recover. This preparation is so innocent, so efficacious, and so pleasant, that no child will refuse to let its gums be rubbed with it. When infants are at the age of four months, though there is no appearance of teeth, one bottle should be used on the gums to open the pores. Parents should never be without the Syrup in the nursery, where there are young children for if a in the nursery where there are young children; for if a child wakes in the night with pain in the gums, the Syrup immediately gives ease by opening the pores and healing the gums, thereby preventing Convulsions,

The passage of the teeth through the gums produces troublesome and dangerous symptoms. It is known by mothers that there is a great irritation in the mouth and gums during the process. The gums swell, the secretion and saliva is increased, the child is seized with frequent and sudden fits of crying, watchings, starting in the sleep, and spasms of peculiar parts: the child shricks with extreme violence, and thrusts its fingers into its mouth. If these precursatory symptoms are not specdily alleviated, spasmodic convulsions universally supervene, and soon cause the dissolution of the infant.

Mothers who have their babes afflicted with these distressing symptoms, should apply Dr. Wm. Evans' celebrated Soothing Syrup, which has preserved hundreds of infants when thought past recovery, from being suddenly attacked with that fatal malady, convulsions. roe, Schuylkill, afflicted with the above distressing malady. Symptoms, great langour, flatulency, disturbed rest, nervous head-ache, difficulty of breathing, tightness and stricture across the breast, dizziness, nervous irratibility and restlessness, could not lie in a horizontal position without the sensation of impeding suffocation, palpitation of the heart, distressing cough, costiveness, pain of the stomach, drowsiness, great debility, and deficiency of the nervous energy. Mr R. Monroe gave up every thought of recovery, and dire despair sat on the countenance of every person interested in his existance or happiness, till by accident he noticed in a public paper some cures effected by Dr Wm. Evans' Medicine in his complaint, which inducedhim to purchase a package of the Pills which resulted in completely removing every symptom of his disease. He wishes to say his motive for this declaration is, that those afflicted with the same or any symptoms similar to those from which he is

DIRECTIONS.

IF Please shake the bottle when first opened I When children begin to be in pain with their teeth shooting in their gums, put a little of the Syrup in a tea-spoon, and with a finger let the child's gums be rubbed for two or three minutes, three times a day. It must not be put to the breast immediately, for the milk would take the syrup off too soon. When the teeth are just coming through their gums, mothers should immediately apply the syrup, it will prevent their children having a fever, and undergoing that painful operation of lancing the gums, which always makes the next tooth much harder to come through, and sometimes causes death

Some youngsters were panting for fashions, Some new kick seemed now all the go, But having no turbulent passions, My motto was "Rosin the Bow."

So kindly my parents besought me, No longer a roving to go, And friends whom I thought had forgot me, With gladness met Rosin the Bow.

My young days 1 spent all in roving,
But never was vicious, no, no;
But somehow I loved to keep moving,
And cheerfully Rosin'd the Bow.

In country or city, no matter,
Too often I never could go,
My presence all sadness would scatter,
So cheerful was Rosin the Bow,

The old people always grew merry, Young faces with pleasure did glow, While lips with the red of the cherry, Sipped "bliss to old Rosin the Bow."

While sweetly I played on my viol, In measures so soft and so slow, Old Time stopped the shade of the dial, To listen to Rosin the Bow.

And tho' my sweet prime I've been spending, When friendship made glasses ere now, No pang of remorse is now rending, The bosom of Resin the Bow

And peacefully now I am sinking,
From all this sweet world can bestow,
But heaven's kind mercy I'm thinking,
Provides for old Rosin the Bow.

Now, soon on some still Sunday morning, The first thing the neighbors will know, Their ears will be met with the warning, To bury old Rosin the Bow.

My friends will then so neatly dress me, In linen as white as the snow,
And in my new coffin they'll press me,
And whisper "poor Rosin the Bow."

Then lone with my head on the pillow, In peace I'll be sleeping below, The grass and the breeze shaken willow, That waves over Rosin the Bow!

At length I became quite nervous about him .-It seemed to me that he haunted me like a ghost. I was even jeelous of Edward's caresses to him, and looked and spoke as no good wife should look or speak to her husband.

It is from permitting such trifles to gain the ascendency over the mind that most connubial discords proceed. We dwell on some particularity in manner or taste opposed to our own, and jar the rich harp of domestic happiness, until one by one, every string is broken. When this conviction came over me, I threw myself upon my knees, and prayed to God for a gentle, submissive temper. After long and earnest to pursue the noble task that he had undertaken, inquiry into my own heart, I left the chamber calm and to serve the son with the same zeal of which and happy. Edward was reading, and Growler the father received so many proofs. The death of stood beside him. I approached them softly and the Sultan has given a striking evidence of their patting the dog's head, said, 'So' Growler, helping devotion. In that court, where every ascent to your master to read? Edward looked at me inquiringly. I am sure my whole expression of face actions or domestic revolutions, a youth of less than gave me a token of regard he never bestowed on without it being stained by blood; and, for the first Growler. In whatever voice and tone it was mentioned, he would get up and retire into the darkest corner of the room with an air of distress .-But if you said, 'the baker was not hurt after all,' Camp came forth from his hiding place, capered, barked and rejoiced. Growler, however, had many of those properties of observation which raise the canine race so high in the affections of man.

When Edward made his forenoon sortie from the office to look at his sleeping boy, Growler always accompanied him and rested his forepaws on the head of the cradle. As the babe grew older, he loved to try experiments upon the dog's sagacity and the child's courage.

Sometimes Fred was put into a basket, and Growler drew him carefully about the room with a string between his teeth; as the boy advanced in strength he was seated upon the dog's back with a whip in his hand. When my attachment to Growler increased, new experiments were made, particularly after the birth of Martha. She was an exquisite little infant, and it seemed to us that the dog was more gentle and tender in his movements with her, than with Frederick. When two months old, Edward sometimes arranged a shawl, carefully about her, tied it strongly, and, putting the knot between the dog's teeth, sent her across the room to me. No mother ever carried a child more skillfully. Of course, all these associations attached him to the infant, and after a while he deserted the rug, where Fairy again established herself, and laid himself down and slept by the infant's cradle.

Most of the leaders of the chartists have been tried and found guilty, and sentenced to imprisonment from one to two years, leaving the party without a head to direct their movements. Although they are still agitating various parts of the North of England, it is believed that little mischief will be done. Those men who were sentenced to death, have been reprieved, and will be transported. The charlists in many places are adopting a new and singular method of annovance. They assemble at some public place and proceed in a body to the parish church, excluding thereby all pew holders, &c. Frequently they send to the clergy man a text, and if he preaches from it, they appear to be satisfied with

Generally, the clergyman proceeds with his subject in a manner not very gratifying to the Chartists, and this leads to tumult. At Sheffield, seventy two persons were arrested; but only two had been committed for trial. On the 18th of August they filled the old parish church in that town, and also crowded the church-yard. They had proclaimed their intention of attending the same place on Sunday the 25th, and had sent a request, to the clergyman to preach from 5th James, first six verses-"Go to, now, ye rich made by Lord Palmerston.

Mr. Hume asked the noble lord the Secretary of State for the foreign Department, whether the statement which had recently appeared in the public journals was true-namely, that the five powers had agreed on a basis for the settlement of the affairs of the East.

Lord Palmerston was glad that the Hon, member for Kilkenny had asked him the question, because it would enable him to state that which he had no doubt it would be satisfactory to the house to hear-namely, that on the 28th of last month a note had been presented to the ministers of the Porte, signed by the representatives of the five great powers, technically called a collective note, which stated that they were instructed by their respective governments to inform the Porte, that the five powers were agreed generally as to the affairs now pending between Tarkey and Egypt, and that they were directed to ask the Porte to suspend any negotiations into which it might have entered with Mehemet Ali. and not to proceed therein without the knowledge and concarrence of the five powers. That note has been accepted by the Turkish government with great thankfulness. The house might therefore be assured that there would be no diswas no prospect whatever at present.

THE FRANKFORT CONVENTION .-- We need not say that we heartily approve of the recommendations of the Circular letter of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Fayette, which we have transferred to our columns to-day. It's suggestions are in the right spirit, and will be responded to, we are sure, by the friends of the administration throughout the State. Have we not change in her interior arrangements. She had a Tennessee, Indiana, and even in Kentucky, to stimto redeem the State? Was the cause of democracy in Tennessee-or Indiana, before the late elections in those states, any less discouraging than they are at present in Kentucky? In Tennessee there were at least 20,000 votes to overcome, and in Indiana, at least half that number; and yet, gloomy and hopeless as the prospect seemed to be, the perseverance of true and ardent friends triumphed over even these overwhelming odds-May we not do the same? May not exertions like those used by the democracy of Tennessee and Indiana, where every patriot felt and discharged his obligations with a spirit that knew no discouragement, result in triumphs equally glorious to us? The obstacles in our path are not so great and may be overcome with as much ease, if we apply ourselves to the combat, with the same fearless and determined spirit. We say it without fear of rebuke, and in all sincerity. The last Gubernatorial and Presidential elections, do not show that disparity in the strength of parties, which we are prone to imagine, from the political complexion of our Legislature, exists in the State. A few thousand at most in the aggregate vote, is all the odds gates, the legislative and congressional elections would seem to present a much larger majority. FOR PRESIDENT, MARTIN VAN BUREN. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, RICHARD M. JOHNSON.

There is much difficulty among the Whigs, candidates for nomination at the approaching Whig National Convention at Harrisburg, Pa.

The friends of Gen. Harrison contend, and The leading Whig paper in Boston asserts with itor. great confidence, that Mr. Clay will lose Massachusetts. Many of the leading Whig papers of litive certainty, that we have never forfeited the Pennsylvania assert no less confidently, that he confidence placed in our hand, by revealing the has no earthly chance for that State. Indiana, name of one auther. And we again reiterate, Illinois and Ohio will be lost to him. In a word, that no article, however well written--however we concur fully with the Louisville Gazette, that | accordant with our own sentiments, shall receive an Mr. Clay has no chance for any State, save Ken | insertion in the Gazette, until that confidence is

Now, what are the prospects of Gen. Harrison? It is admitted on all hands he cannot get the electoral vote of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, or Pennsylvania-States in which he has most strength. He cannot get a Southern State. We verily believe he will get no State in the Union. We therefore conclude Mr. Clay is the stronger Whig of the two, as he has some chance to get the electoral vote of Kentucky, and Harrison

Had not the Whigs better yield the contest, and permit Mr. Van Buren to be elected without oppostion? It would save them much chagrin and mortification-much time and money. We tell them again, it is worse than futile to start a Whig candidate. The principles advocated by our patriotic and wise President, are such as must and will be popular with the mass of the people of this republic. These principles are gaining ground every day in an exact ratio to the enlightenment of the people, and will continue to gain until all opposition dwindles into insignificance, or be totally extinguished forever. We say again to the Whigs, in all candor, cease your opposition, and allow Mr. Van Buren a re election without opposition.

What has Mr. Clay done for his popularity in New York by his recent tour through that State? If we were to judge from some of the leading Whig papers there, we must conclude it has profited him nothing. On the contrary, his weakness has been made apparent to sensible men, and the people would be so dispirited should Mr. Clay receive the Harrisburg nomination, that they will not go to the polls. But say they do, he will lose the State by ten thousand votes.

The anti-masonic and abolition parties are strong in N. Y., and can carry the State for either Mr. Clay or Mr. Van Buren. Mr. Clay is obnoxious to both parties, particularly to the abolitionists. We do not mean to intimate Mr Van h less so But the fact is Mr. Var Buren has been uniform and consistent in his opposition. In fact, in size and quality, this specimen has been but little surpassed in the most prolific seasons. We invite our friends, who have been apprehensive of famine to call and see the prospect.

It is stated in the Pennsylvania papers, that the state loan of $2,054,000 has been taken by the U. S. banks, at 5 per cent. interest.

It is also said that $500,000 of the Arkansas bonds have been sold in England.

What has become of the Kentucky bonds? We have heard it stated that our secretary of State has been for months in New York, for the purpose of disposing of them.

There appears to be little or no abatement of the Yellow Fever in our southern cities. The Louisville City Gazette says:

"YELLOW FEVER ON THE STEAMER CORSICAN."-"The St. Louis Republican of the 18th says: By a passenger who came upon the New York last night, we learn that the fever is making fearful ravages among the passengers and hands on board this boat. ville are thus castly humbugged? If they are, we have unanimously come to the conclusion, to dedon't wonder at their supporting John Bell. The cline being candidates for the high and responsible offices, which, through the partiality of the whig party, we are thought so well qualified to One cause that influenced me in coming to this decision, was, that I am out of the country, and shall probably not find it convenient to return to the United States, soon enough to enter upon the duties of the office when Colonel Johnson's term expires.

Though I decline the honor which the 'whig' party seem so anxious to bestow upon me, permit me to assure them that I am not the less desirous of seeing the present leg treasury administration thrust from power. I hope that its opponents will act with that harmony which will secure the appointment of men to office, who will not leave the country with millions of the people's money in their pockets.

I assure the 'whige' of the U.S. that I was highly gratified with the nomination, and shall ever regard the bestowment of that honor as an evidence of their approval of my official conduct. SAMUEL SWARTWOUT.

ALMANAC OF CHARACTER.

JANUARY. - Whoever is born in this month will be laborious, and a lover of good wine, but very subject to infidelity; but he will be complaisant and withal a very fine singer. The lady born in this month, will be a pretty prudent house-wife rather melancholy but yet good tempered.

FEBRUARY .- The man born in this month will love money much, but the ladies more, he will be stingy at home, but a prodigal abroad. The lady will be a humane and affectionate wife, and a tender mother.

MARCH.-The man born in this month will be rather handsome; he will be honest and prudent: he will die poor. The lady will be a jealous, passionate chatter-box

APRIL.-The man who has the misfortune to be born in this month will be subject to maladies; he niles from Lexington was consumed by fire, on will travel to his advantage; and love ladies to his disadvantage, for he will marry a rich and handsome heiress, who will make—what no doubt all understand. The lady of this month will be tall and stout, with agreeable wit, and great talk.

MAY .- The man born in this month will be handsome and amiable; he will make his wife happy. The lady will be equally blessed in every
